"Joe" is undecided about his future plans, but we would suggest that he enter the field of dramatics. After his impersonation of the fair sex in the Senior Drama we predict a bright future for this lad.

FRANK JOSEPH BARRETT

He has belonged to the '28 Travel Club, the '31 Ring Committee, and the '31 Senior Drama Committee. Frank is a great traveler, with extensive trips, during the school vacations, to many places. His favorite hobby is collecting foreign coins. Intends to choose woodworking as his career. While at Rindge "Bots" evidently was taken up much of the time by his studies so that he could not partake in many sports. We know that in his vocation he will succeed because of the perseverance and effort he always puts into everything he attempts.

"Tony" Sarausky

Four years ago, Tony was the victim of a sickness which made athletic competition almost impossible. He weighed 130 pounds and appeared as a candidate for the football team and through sheer grit, determination and courage, he played on the 1927 football team and has been an inspirational leader of our Rindge teams from that day to the present time.

Tony developed and after a year of athletics, the pygmy of 1927 became a real athlete and it wasn't very long after that he became the athletic sensation of the New England high schools. He has put on pounds of brawn and muscle so that today he weighs 190 pounds and stands about 6 feet.

It was during the 1929 football season, he sprang into prominence mainly through his superb kicking and forward passing ability. He was picked by all sport writers for their all-scholastic football teams.

Then followed basketball and hockey. He made such an impression with the hockey fans that he was named "the Eddie Shore of the school-boy hockey".

In baseball, he triumphantly marched, being the star pitcher and the slugging outfielder.

His heavy hitting earned him a place on the all-scholastic team. Scouts from major league teams have observed Tony's work but he has told them that he will not consider baseball professionally until he has completed his education.

For the sports year of 1930, he was named all-scholastic on three different teams, football, baseball, and hockey. He was also picked by one sport writer to be the "1930 schoolboy champion".

Sarausky has been a football regular for four years, a defense man on the hockey team for three years, and a center on the basketball team for a like period. Last year Tony was captain of our football team.

Tony called the signals, passed, ran with the ball, kicked and received punts and did all exceptionally well. He earned respect and admiration not only of his fellow players, coaches and school but also of each and every opponent as well as the opposing coaches.

Sarausky has never yet failed in a study but greater still is his sincere, straight forwardness, modesty, quiet and gentle manner and sportsmanship at all times.

He will go to college but as yet is undecided. Among some of the colleges that he has thought of attending are Boston College, Holy Cross, Harvard, Yale, Dartmouth, Columbia and Fordham.

We know that wherever he matriculates, he will succeed and that the college can also feel justly proud of having such a son. We are proud of him.

. . . Mr. John W. Wood . . .

AS WE LOOK BACK over the four years we have left behind there are many things that have happened that we would like to undo and others that we will cherish as long as we live. Among the events that have happened that we will never forget was our meeting the headmaster of the school Mr. John W. Wood. Kindly, fatherly, sympathetic, always with a helping hand this man has guided the destinies of Rindge for the last quarter of a century. The best evidence of a head-master's ability is what the graduates of the school say about him years after they leave. Rindge graduates are always friends of Mr. Wood's, they never forget him he never forgets them. Farewell Mr. Wood we are sorry to leave your guiding hand but we will be back more than once in years to come for your kindly advice and council.

Mr. William H. Mahoney Jr.

The Class of '31 has been fortunate in having for friend and counsellor a man who possesses the rare gifts of understanding and humor. With a few hearty words of encouragement and cheer he has unravelled the tangled problems we have brought before him. It was largely due to his efforts that all our class functions were successfully executed.

Years from now, when we recall the friendship made during our high school days, his will stand among the foremost in our memory. He was everybody's friend, and a man in whom each of us placed great trust and confidence. Words cannot suffice to express the thanks of the senior class to Mr. William H. Mahoney for his kind services and sympathetic advice.

...Epilogue...

OUR BARK has almost reached the shore,
Its Journey's here enrolled,
The storied scroll of yester years,
In this our book is told.

BUT AS THE SUN at even tide,
When sinking to her rest,
Leaves golden streaks of light behind,
Illumining the golden West.

MAY WE, when we have left this school,
That's grown in memory dear,
Leave after us the glorious light,
Of another golden year.

The 1931 Class History

In September 1927, Rindge opened her portals to a troop of unsophisticated yet promising youths. They entered in awe and gazed about them in hushed wonder at the wise Sophomores, staid Juniors, and unapproachable Seniors. Gradually becoming accustomed to such companions, their self-consciousness began to melt away. Each morning they could be seen eagerly mending their various ways toward that great and honorable dispenser of higher education. Soon they were full-fledged "Rindgites"—charging through the mobs at locker periods and swimming through the tunnels. Of course, we won the Rope Pull and had a large representation in the major and minor sports, and as far as scholarship, there were fifteen of our names on the first Honor Roll, these steadily increasing in numbers until in our Senior year we were unsurpassed.

Summer vacation over, our ambitious troops returned to start the year with new buildings and equipment. Election of officers and class organization took place soon—but nothing further was done along this line. How we did shine in sports and dramatics; three on the first team in football; one in hockey; four in baseball; several in dramatics. So this year of physical and mental activity rolled by.

Behold another September! Juniors now! The shining veneer of Rindge is well encased upon us now. The booming year was started out with a spirited election, followed by social functions as we had never conducted before. The Junior Prom, the first social event of our class, was a credit to such a brilliant class. In the Senior Drama our talent was conspicuously displayed through our foremost actors. Many of our members helped to carry the Rindge colors through to victory. There were seven Juniors on the first team of football and eight on hockey. Only Juniors made the all-scholastic team—a great feather in our cap! Oh yes, by the way, we standardized the school ring—another feather!!!

With burning loyalty and high expectations we, as the dignified Senior Class, met in September to make our final stand for that well-beloved diploma. In spite of our shining raiment (such ties, such soxs, such rings and such silk handkerchiefs) we did our work in a thorough and painstaking manner cooperating with the faculty (especially at two o'clock) and abiding according to the rules and regulations of the model student—sometimes. Such activities no one class has ever seen—if it wasn't this function, it was that. The Senior Drama, needless to say, was a brilliant success, thank to our predominating talent that has been with us these last four years. We shone even greater on the field of battle—how our stars scintillated! In all sports we had an outstanding representation, carrying things over the top even as our class as a whole has always done. Little did we realize what literary geniuses were in our midst until this year when their talents burst forth in various ways in the Register.

We are now leaving the portals of our beloved Rindge much wiser, much nobler, and more able to combat with life's trials, problems, and possibilities. May we ever seek to uphold the standard of our Alma Mater:

"Work is one of our greatest blessings ; every one should have an honest occupation."

... A Note of Thanks ...

THE SUCCESS of this, the first year book ever attempted by a Senior Class at Rindge has been due in a large measure to conscientious efforts of Mr. Gomes, Mr. Gately, and Mr. McDonald. To the first two fell the task of assembling and printing the material gathered by the staff, a truly enormous task when one takes into consideration the facilities at their command. The binding of the year book was done by Mr. McDonald and the students in the book-binding course.

The class is also indebted to Mr. Richerts for the cover design, and last, but by no means least, to Mr. Mahoney and the staff of the year book for the pains taking efforts exhibited during the gathering of material.

All these kind and generous friends have contributed toward making this book a souvenir in which will be retained for all time the precious memories of our associations with the Rindge Technical School. To them the Class of '31 wishes to say with simplicity a heartfelt "Thank you!"
